

PANEL DISCUSSION II

From policy translation and science-policy dialogue to evidence-informed policy formulation for climate change mitigation and adaptation

19 April 2024 | 09:30–10:30 (NPT) | Online and Kailash Hall, ICIMOD

REGISTER HERE

<https://icimod-org.zoom.us/meeting/register/tZMtceyrpzqHNXzCj1KBthNVYLV1WXrwpeM>

Facilitator: Babar Khan, Enabling Regional and Global Mechanisms for Sustainable Action, ICIMOD

- Policy pathway in ICIMOD's Strategy 2030 and Medium-Term Action Plan V 2023-2026 – Izabella Koziell, Deputy Director General, ICIMOD
- Rosalind Cornforth, the Walker Institute, University of Reading (pre-recorded video)
- Christopher A Scott, Pennsylvania State University, ICIMOD Mountain Chair 2020-2022 (pre-recorded video)

Panellists

Ramesh Chandra Paudel

Honourable Member of National Planning Commission
Government of Nepal

Dr Paudel's portfolio at the National planning commission include Education, Science and Technology, Federal Affairs and General Administration, and Sustainable Development Goals 4. Dr Paudel's research interests include economic growth, human resources development, tourism economics, fiscal and monetary policy, international trade, liberalization and reforms, development financing, foreign direct investment, landlocked economies, structural transformation, regional integration, and macroeconomic issues of development economics.

Peng Liu

Yunnan University, China

Dr. Liu Peng is an associate professor in Institute of South Asia Studies, Yunnan University and deputy director of International Cooperation and Exchange Office, Yunnan University. he is also a visiting scholar in Washington University in St. Louis and fellow in India China Institute, The New School. He has published two books and more than forty papers in Chinese and English.

Brij Mohan Rathore

Interim Strategic Group 3 Lead

Enabling Regional and Global Mechanisms for Sustainable Action ICIMOD

Mr Brij Mohan Singh Rathore, a professional forester from Indian Forest Service, has over 30 years of professional experience in the field of participatory forestry, regeneration of degraded lands, watershed management, and landscape approach to bio-diversity conservation, rural development, and environmental education. He has worked in Government (at field, state and national level), research & training Institutions and NGOs. He is currently Interim Strategic Group 3 Lead, Enabling Regional and Global Mechanisms for Sustainable Action, ICIMOD.

Iq Mohammed Mead

Imperial College London, United Kingdom

Dr Iq Mead commenced the role of Head of Air Quality Measurement in the ERG team at Imperial College London in December 2021. As part of this role his responsibilities include the London Air Quality Network of reference grade instruments, as well as the Breathe London hyper-local community sensor network. Prior to this role he was Regional Program Manager - Atmosphere at ICIMOD